

Why Ecotourism?

Ecotourism is about preserving natural resources and forest life at the same time, appreciating and enjoying the ingenuity of the land.

Ecotourism is viewed as an opportunity to generate income and employment. The basic premise of the ecotourism component is to develop successful community based ecotourism i.e. activities that satisfy both conservation and development objectives, which are envisaged through community based ecotourism, which help in promoting the Himalayan way of life.

Ecotourism is a remarkable and pivotal part of tourism because it enhances the nature and culture integrity of the people in a sustainable manner.
